RTV, Inc, a provider of virtual tour software and National photography services announced today their new online virtual tour software system. This new virtual tour software allows anyone to create a virtual tour online and save an additional ten to fifteen minutes of production time per property tour. Providers using their previous system, Tour Builder 3.0, were able to create, publish and deliver a full property tour in about an hour. The addition of this new online virtual tour software system gives RTV's current and future customers significantly faster production times and a competitive advantage over other virtual tour software companies around the World.

Jason LaVanture, VP and founder of RTV stated: “We’re very excited offer this new technology to our clients. Our new Tour Builder 4.0 is certainly first in class and has several advantages over our previous version. Our virtual tour providers around the World can expect much more to come from RTV this year. We increased our technology budget nearly 300% in 2010 and we’re going to double that figure this year. RTV is here to stay and we’re more committed than ever to our customer’s success.”

The new virtual tour software is 100% browser based making it available to both PC and MAC users. RTV’s new batch file uploader also saves their providers time by allowing users to publish all high definition images to a virtual tour at once and users can make rapid changes to tours from any internet connection.

Douglas Knorr, Chairman of RTV stated: “It’s a truly wonderful time for RTV and our clients. Our diverse offering, dedication to our customers success through extensive training and support services has made our company quite stable during these hard economic times. The time could not be better than now to become a digital marketing expert with the help of RTV!”

Since late 1999, RTV has continually led the way in the virtual tour software industry. Offering a wide variety of services ranging from virtual tour hosting, national photography services, website setup, digital marketing and social media training, customer support, continual software updates, virtual staging, panoramic listing sign riders, single property websites, listing syndication, mobile TXT marketing, virtual tour traffic reporting, interactive floor plans, elevated photography, and more.
