Florida Eye Tours Announces Virtual Wedding Packages

ANNA MARIA, FL virtual tours – February 11, 2008 - Florida Eye Tours (FET), a company offering virtual media in west Florida, has announced its plans to offer virtual wedding packages throughout 2008.

Located in Florida, Anna Maria Island is a sub-tropical paradise that thousands of people choose as their vacation destination every year. Many couples choose to wed on the white sandy beaches. "It's a new and exciting product that we have thought about for a while," said Erin Heckler, marketing manager for FET, "We just had our first wedding festival here and it was an amazing success."

FET will be offering virtual wedding packages that will be online and ready for viewing approximately one business day after they have been photographed. Family members who can't make the actual wedding can see the special day just one business day after the event. It also allows couples to take a sneak peak at their wedding as they wait for their wedding album and video to be ready.

Chris Grumley, owner and Professional videographer/photographer stated, "After we created the virtual tour for our new Community Center here in Anna Maria, we received a call about the upcoming basketball season. We completed the virtual tour in time for their grand opening and the Athletic Director was so impressed that he asked us to film the basketball season. It only seems natural that we extend this service to personal events such as weddings. We are very excited about this new service and look forward to helping many couples remember their special day in a unique way."
